NOTICE TO PATRONS

A photograph of the Oceanario de Lisboa building, a modern architectural structure with a prominent white cable-stayed roof and large glass facades, situated on a pier over the water. The building features multiple levels with concrete walls and metal staircases. A small, colorful inflatable object is visible in the water in the foreground.

The image shows the Expo 98 Pavilion in Lisbon, Portugal, a modern architectural structure. It features a large, white, curved canopy supported by several tall, white, cylindrical columns. The facade is composed of a complex metal mesh structure. The building is set against a clear blue sky. In the foreground, there is a paved area with some concrete blocks. A teal banner in the bottom right corner contains the text "Expo 98 Pavilion Lisbon, Portugal".
